You may have answered true to more than one, perhaps several, maybe all of the questions. Many have lived with the lies for so long, to them, they aren't lies, that's just who they are. This is the greatest injustice. For some, when the lies get exposed and the truths revealed, they have a hard time accepting the truths. "I want this to be true, I want to believe this is who I am deep down, but is it really?"

Yes it is. Read the truths once daily for the next week. Evidence of the truths will materialize. As they do, you begin to realize you are FAR more the truths than the lies. To learn how you can attend a zoom event to prove the truths, to live the truths, email us at info@cdv.org.
